Innovations in Leadership Development

Do you know how to build on successful learning approaches, leverage technology, and repurpose learning innovations?

Join us at the upcoming HR Technology Summit to learn how to make innovative corporate learning and development an invaluable asset and contributor to bottom-line business success.

During our session, we will explore:

- Implement a blended learning approach with engaging experiences and ongoing application
- Support key change initiatives with a campaign approach, using multiple modalities of interaction and collaboration
- Leverage technology, including Web 2.0 social networking tools and other existing systems within your enterprise

We look forward to discussing how ongoing innovation within leadership development can help you maintain support and momentum for this key investment.

If you will not be able to join us in Brussels, please register your interest in a PDI Ninth House webinar which will be March 10, 2010. This webinar will be free of charge.
